Cooper is a socially awkward seventh grade boy who struggles with being honest with himself. He has a "girlfriend," supposedly, but he is faced with issues of acceptance and has only one wish: for everyone to be equal.

But Cooper has a secret only his journal knows — a secret that could ruin all chances of friendship with the person he loves the most — and he isn't ready to share that secret. And when his journal goes missing, Cooper will stop at nothing to keep his secret from coming out. But when everything starts to spiral out of control, starting with a mysterious girl on his bus, he starts to wonder if his secrets will ever be safe again . . . Who is this mystery girl who knows way too much about him? Why is everyone at school being so weird, not to mention at home? Will Cooper win acceptance . . . or alienate an entire school forever?

Alex Laskowski is a sixth-grade student in Central Pennsylvania. Aside from being an author, she loves to sing, write, draw, act, and perform. She also loves animals. One of Alex's favorite quotes is: "I just want to remind you that creating goals is important but following them is even more important." You can learn more about Alex, and her future projects at www.ivisityourschool.com

For more information visit www.ivisityourschool.com

READYAIMWRITE kids

$15.99
ISBN 978-1-7338393-0-3
51599
9 781733 839303

Alex Laskowski

Equal

Equal

Alex Laskowski